"The Go Digital project has been a game-changer for our business, and we cannot recommend it highly enough. "

"Having someone guide you through the tricky stuff really helps you get it right. "

"The grant itself was incredibly helpful in covering the costs of professional website development, but it was Kate's advice that made this investment truly valuable."

The Go Digital project has been a game-changer for our business, and we cannot recommend it highly enough. From start to finish, the support we received was exceptional, particularly from our advisor, Kate. Her expertise and guidance were instrumental in helping us make the most of our £500 grant, which we invested in website development.

Kate took the time to understand our business needs and provided tailored advice that felt both actionable and forward-thinking. Her insights went far beyond surface-level recommendations, helping us to prioritise features and functionality that would truly enhance our online presence. She also helped us navigate the often-overwhelming world of digital tools and strategies, ensuring we made informed decisions every step of the way.

The grant itself was incredibly helpful in covering the costs of professional website development, but it was Kate's advice that made this investment truly valuable. Thanks to her guidance, we now have a modern, user-friendly website that not only looks fantastic but also drives meaningful engagement with our customers.
